COLD GREETINGS FOR THE PRODIGAL.

Thousands Listen to the Elegment Evangelist's Discourse.

Dr. Talmage preached yesterday before the Culver Park Assembly at Lake Maxinknekee, Ind., thousands coming from Indianapolis, Chicago and the surrounding regions to hear him. His discourse was on conquering evil habits, and was an eloquent SINTAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. LAKE MAXINGUCKEE, IND., July 21 .-Rev. T. De Witt Talmage preached at Culver Park assembly, this place, to-day, great crowds of people being present from Chicago, Indianapolis and the surrounding regions. His subject was: "How to Conquer." The text was: "When shall I awake? I will seek it yet again." Prov.

xxiii., 35. The eloquent preacher said: With an insight into human nature such as no other man ever reached, Solomen, in my text, sketches the mental operations of one who, having stepped aside from the path of rectitude, desires to return. With a wish for something better, he said, "When shall I awake? When shall I come out of this horrid nightmare of iniquity?" But seized upon by uneradicated habit, and forced down hill by his passions, he cries out: "I will seek it yet again.

I will try it once more."

Our libraries are adorned with an elegant literature addressed to young men, pointing out plete maps of the voyage, showing all the rocks plete maps of the voyage, snowing an the rocks, the quicksands, the shoals. But suppose a man has already made shipwreck; suppose he is already off the track; suppose he already gone astray. How is he to get back? That is a field comparatively untouched. I pro-pose to address myself to such. There are those in this audience who,

WITH EVERY PASSION of their agonized soul, are ready to hear such a discussion. They compare themselves with what they were 10 years ago, and cry out from the bondage in which they are incarcerated. Now, if there be any here, come with an earnest purpose, yet feeling they are beyond the pale of Christian sympa.hy, and that the sermon can hardly be expected to address them, then, at this moment. I give them my right hand, and call them brother. Look up. There is glorious and triumphant hope for you yet. I should the trumpet of gospel deliverance. The church is ready to spread a banquet at your return, and the hierarchs of heaven to fall into line of bannered procession at the news of your emancipation. So far as God may help me, I propose to show what are the obstacles of your return, and then how you are to surmount those obstacles.

The first difficulty in the way of your return is the force of moral gravitation. Just as there is a natural is aw which brings down to the earth anything you throw into the air, so there is a on can hardly be expected to address them, is a natural saw which brings down to the earth anything you throw into the air, so there is a corresponding moral gravitation. In other words, it is easier to go down than it is to go up; it is easier to do wrong than it is to do right. Call to mind the comrades of your boyhood days—some of them good, some of them bad—white most affected you? Call to mind the anecdotes that you have heard in the last five or ten years—some of them are pure and some of them impure. Which the more easily sticks to your memory? During the years of your life you have formed certain courses of conduct—some of them good, some of them bad. To which style of habit did you the more easily yield? Ah my friends, we have to take but a moment of self-inspection to find out that there is in all our souls a force of moral gravitation! But that gravitation may be reasted. Just as you may pick up from the earth something and hold it in your hand toward heaven, just so, by the power of God's grace, a soul fallen may be lifted toward peace, toward pardon, toward heaven. Force of moral gravitation in every one of us, but power in God's grace to overcome that just so, by the power of God's grace, a soul fallen may b) lifted toward peace, toward pardon, toward heaven. Force of moral gravitation in every one of us, but power in God's grace to overecome that

FORCE OF MORAL GEAVITATION.

The ne-t thing in the way of your return is the power of evil habit. I know there are those who say it is vory easy for them to give up evil habits. I do not believe them, Here is a man given to intoxication. He knows it is disgracing his family, destroying his property, ruining him body, mind and soul. If that man, being an intelligent man, and loving his family, could easily give up that habit, would he not do se? The fact that he does not give it up proves that it is hard to give it up. It is a very easy thing to sail down stream, the tide carrying you with great force; but suppose you turn, we put our boat in the rapids just above Ningara, and ary to row up stream. Bit so easy then to row it? As long as we yield to the evil inclinations in our hearts, and our bad habits, we are sailing down stream but the moment we try to turn, we put our boat in the rapids just above Ningara, and try to row up stream. Take a man given to the habit of using tobacco, as most of you do, and let him resolve to stop, and he finds it very difficult. Twenty-seven years ago I quit that habit, and I would as soon does to put my right hand in the fire as once to indulge in it. Why? Because it was such a herrific struggle to get over it.

Now, let a man be advised by his physician to give up the use of tobacco. He goes around not knowing what to do with himself. He cannot sleep nights. It seems as if the world had turned upside down. He feels his business is going to run. Where he was kind and obliging, he is soolding and fretful. The composure that characterized him has given way to a frotful restressness, and he has become a complete fidget. What power is it that has rolled a ways of was over the earth and sheeme a complete fidget. What power is it that has rolled a ways of was over the earth and sheeme a dare to put my right hand in the fire as once to indulge in it. Why? Because it was such a terrific struggle to get over it.

Now, let a man be advised by his physician to give up the use of tobacco. He goes around not knowing what to do with himself. He cannot add up a line of figures. He cannot sleep nights. It seems as if the world had turned upside down. He feels his business is going to ruin. Where he was kind and obliging, he is scolding and fretful. The composure that characterized him has given way to a fretful restlessness, and he has become a complete fidget. What power is it that has rolled a wave of we over the earth and shaken a portent in the heavens? He has tried to stop smoking or chewing! After awhile he says, "I am going to do as I please. The doctor doesn't understand my case. I'm going back to my old habit." Andise returns. Everything assumes its usual composure. His business seems to brighten. The world becomes an attractive place to live in. His children, seeing the difference, hall the return of their father's genlal disposition. What wave of color has dashed blue into the sky, and greenness into the mountain foliage, and the glow of sapphire into the sunset? What enchantment has lifted a world of beasty and joy on his soul?

loose from its moorings, it came on down through the night and tossed over the falls. It was said to have been a scene brilliant beyond all description. Well, there are thousands of men on fire of evil habit, coming down through the rapids and through the awful night of temptation toward the eternal plungs. Ohi how hard it is to arrest them. God only can arrest them.

Suppose a man after 5 or 10 or 20 years of evil doing resolves to do right? Why, all the forces of darkness are alited against him. He cannot sleep nights. He great down on his knees in the midnight and cries, "God help me?" He bites his lip, He grinds his teeth. He clenches his lip, He grinds his teeth. He clenches his first in his determination to keep his purpose. He dare not look at the bottles in the window of a wine store. It was one long, bitter, exhaustive, hand-to-hand fight with inflamed, tantailizing and merciless habit. When he thinks he is entirely free, the old inclinations pounce upon him like a pack of hounds with their murales, tearing away at the finks of one poor reindery. In Paris there is a sculptured representation of Bacchus, the god of revelry. He is riding on a panther at full leap. Oh, how suggestive? Let every one who is speeding on bad ways understand he is not riding a docile and well-broken steed, but he is riding a monster, wild and bloodthirsty, going at

How many there are who resolve on a better life and say, "When shall I awake?" But, seized on by their old habits, cry, "I will try it once more: I will seek it yet again." Years ago there were some Princeton students who were skating, and the ice was very thin, and some one warned the company back from the air hole, and finally warned them entirely to leave the place. But one young man with bravado, after all the rest had stopped, cried out: "One round more!" He swept around and went down, and was brought out a corpse. My friends, there are thousands and tens of thousands of men losing their souls in that way. It is the one round more.

I have also to say that if a man wants to return from evil practices society repulses him. Desiring to reform, he says: "Now I will shake off my old associates, and I will find Christian companionship." And he appears at the church door some Sabbath day, and the usher greets him with a look, as much as to say: "Why, you BEWARE OF IMITATIONS here? You are the last man I ever expected to see at church! Come, take this seat right down by the door!" Instead of saying: "Good morning: I am glad you are here. Come, I will give you a first rate seat, right up by the pulpit." Well, the prodigal, not yet discouraged, enters the prayer meeting, and some Christian man, with more zeal than common sense, says: "Glad to see you. The dying thief was saved, and I suppose there is mercy for you!" The young man, disgusted, chilled, throws himself back on his dignity, resolved he will never enter the house of God again. Perhaps not quite fully discouraged about reformation, he sides up by some highly respectable man he used to know going down the street, and immediately the respectable man has an errand down some other street! Well, the prodigal, wishing to return, takes some member of a Christian association by the hand, or tries to. The Christian young man looks at him, looks at the faded apparel and the marks of dissipation, and instead of giving him a warm grip of the hand offers him the tip end of the long ingers of the left hand, which is equal to striking a man in the face.

An HONEST, HEARTFELT HANDSHAKE.

AN HONEST, HEARTFELT HANDSHAKE. Oh, how few Christian people understand how much force and gospel there is in good, honest handshaking! Sometimes, when you have felt the need of encouragement, and some honest handshaking! Sometimes, when you have feit the need of encouragement, and some Christian man has taken you heartily by the hand, have you not felt that thrilling through every fiber of your body, mind and soul, an encouragement that was just what you needed? You do not know anything at all about this unless you knew when a man tries to return from evil courses of conduct he runs against repulsions innumerable. We say of some man, he lives a block or two from the church, or half a mile from the church. There are people in our crowded cities who live 1,000 miles from the church. Vast deserts of indifference between them and the house of God.

The fact is, we must keep our respectability, though thousands and tens of thousands perish. Christ sat with publicans and sinners. But if there comes to the house of God a man with marks of dissipation upon him, people throw up their hands in horror, as much as to say, "Isn't it shocking?" How these damty, fastidious Christians in all our churches are going to get into heaven I don't know, unless they have an especial train of cars, cushioned and upholstered, each one a car to himself! They cannot go with the great herd of publicans and sinners. Oh, ye, who curl your lip of scorn at the fallen, I tell you plainly, if you had been surrounded by the same influences, instead of sitting to-day amid the cultered and the refined and the Christian, you would have been a crouching wretch in stable or ditch, covered with fifth and abomination! It is not because you are naturally say better, but because the mercy of God has protected you. Who are you, that brought up in Christian circles, and watched by Christian parentage, you should be

HARD ON THE FALLEN?

I think men also are often hindered from return by the fact that churches are too anxious about their membership and too anxious about their denomination, and they rush out when they see a man about to give up his sin and re-turn to God, and ask him how he is going to be baptized, whether by sprinkling or by im-mersion, and what kind of a church he is going to join. Oh, my friends! It is a poor time to talk about Presbyterian catechisms and Episco-pal liturgies and Methodist love feast and bappal liturgies and Methodist love feast and bap-tisteries to a man that is coming out of the darkness of sin into the prorious light of the gospel. Why, it reminds us of a man drowning in the sea, and a lifeboat puts out for him, and the man in the boat says to the man out of the boat: "Now, if I get you ashore, are you going to live in my street?" First get him ashore, and then talk about the non-essentials of re-ligion. Who cares what church he joins, if he only joins Christ and starts for heaven? Oh, you ought to have, my brother, an illumined face and a hearty grip for everyone that tries to turn from his evil way! Take hold of the same book with him, though his dissipations shake the book, remembering that he that con-verteth a sinner from the error of his ways shall save a soul from death, and hide a multishall save a soul from death, and hide a mult shall save a soul from death, and hide a multitude of sins.

Now, I have shown you these obstacles because I want you to understand I know all the difficulties in the way;
but I am now to tell you how Hannibal may scale the Alps and how the shackles may be unriveted and how the paths of virtue forsaken may be regained. First of all, my brother, throw yourself on God. Go to him, trankly and earnestly, and tell him these habits you have, and ask him, if there is any help in all the resources of amnipotent love, to give it to you. Do not go with a long rigmarole people call prayer, made up of "oha" and "ahs" and "forever and forever amens!" Go to God and cry for help! help! help# and if you cannot cry for help.

JUST LOOK AND LIVE.

JUST LOOK AND LIVE. I remember in the war I was at Antietam, and I wens into the hospitals after the battle, and I said to a man, "Where are you hurt?" He made no answer, but held up his arm, swollen made no answer, but held up his arm, swollen and splintered. I saw where he was hurt. The COMPORT FOR ALL YOUR TROUBLES. Then, also, I counsel you, if you want to get back, to quit all your bad associations. One unholy intimacy will fill your soul with moral distemper. What wave of color has dashed blue into the sky, and greenness into the mountain foliage, and the glew of sapphire into the surset? What enchantment has lifted a world of beasty and joy on his soul?

HE HAS GONE BACK TO TOBACCO!
Oh, the fact is, as we all know in our own experience, that habit is a taskmaster; as long as we obey it, it does not chastise us; but let us resist, and we find we are to be lashed with scorpion whips and bound with ship cable and thrown into the track of bone-breaking Juggernauts! Furing the War of 1812 there was a ship set on fire just above Nugara Falis, and then, cut loose from its moorings, it came on down through the night and tossed over the falls. It was said to have been a seene brilliant beyond all description. Well, there are thousands of men on fire of evil habit, coming down through the rapids and through the eaving the cernal plungs. GLORIOUS NEWS FOR PARENTS.

Oh, what giorious news it would be for some of these young men to send home to their parents. They go to the postoffice every day or two to see whether there are any letters from you. How anxious they are to hear.

Someone said to a Grecian General, "What was the proudest moment in your life." He thought a moment and said: "The proudest moment in my life was when I sent word home to my parents that I had gained the victory." And the proudest and most brilliant moment in your life will be the moment when you can send word to your parents that you have conquered your evil habits by the grace of God and become eternal victor. Oh, despise not parental anxiety! The time will come when you will have neither father nor mother, and you will go around the place where they used to watch you and find them gone from the house, and gone from the field, and gone from the house, and gone from the field, and gone from the you will take out the white lock of hair that was cut from your mother's brow just before they buried her, and you will take the cane with which your father used to walk, and you will think and think and wish that you had done just as they wanted you to, and would give the world if you had never therst a pang through their dear old hearts. God pity the poor young man who has brought disgrace on his father's name! God pity the young man who has brough the first hour of his life, instead of being laid against the warm bosom of maternal tenderness, he had been coffined and sepulchered. There is no balm powerful enough to heal the heart of one who has brought parents to a sorrowful grave, and who wanders about through the dismal cemetery, rending the hair, and wringing the hands, and crying, "Mother! mother!" Oh, that to-day by all the memories of the past and by all the hopes of the future, you would yield your heart to God. May your father!"
